

CHASKA, Minn — Breakaway Academy, an elite Minnesota private school offering academic and athletic instruction for students in grades 4-8, is pleased to announce that it is adding a primary school at its current Chaska location.

The school will add grades 1-3 at its Chaska Community Center location and will continue to operate its middle school grades at a new location to be announced soon.

"I am very excited to bring our supportive and caring learning environment to the elementary aged student," says Dave Snuggerud, Director of Education. "Breakaway Academy has created a fun learning environment where students love going to school. Our academic and athletic staff do a great job of caring for the student and holding them to a high standard for effort and improvement".

Since 2013, Breakaway Academy has offered students the chance to thrive in a hockey-focused athletics program that helps them learn valuable life lessons while also improving their performance.

"I love the idea of providing an active and athletic school day for primary school students," says Andy Brink, Director of Athletics. "Besides specific on-ice hockey training, we are able to provide athletic activity throughout the day for any student, whether they play hockey or not. It is so important to let students be active and have directed play throughout the day. This will benefit their brain and their body".

Breakaway Academy uses a curriculum designed in accordance with the Minnesota Department of Education K-12 Academic Standards, with programming that runs in coordination with most public school districts statewide. The highly trained and qualified teachers and staff consult with parents, students and advisors on a regular basis to ensure all students make strides toward their personal academic goals. Small class sizes also create a positive learning environment for kids of all levels.

"Small class sizes where the student is allowed to be curious, ask questions, and get immediate help from the teacher is the key to our school", says Erik Westrum, Director of Business and Operations. "We are able to provide a challenging learning environment that pushes each student through an individualized learning plan. It is very rewarding to be in a school environment that challenges the students in academics and athletics.

Enrollment in the new primary school is open now for the fall of 2020, but spots are limited.
